INVITATION

We feel deeply delighted and privileged to acquaint all concerned that Jaipur National University, as a part of its aim of providing holistic academic and co-curricular education, is now gearing up to organize the First Edition of the Model Youth United Nations session at its Seedling School of Law and Governance on 7th–8th October 2016.

Model Youth United Nations (YUN) event is basically an educational cum role modelling simulation of United Nations functioning that aims to educate students on practical aspects of deliberating on current events, subjects in the international relations and diplomacy which need to be included in the United Nations agenda for discussion and solution. In Model YUN meet, the participants act as Delegates of different countries participating in a session of UN Organ/committee such as United Nations Security Council or Human Rights Council; Participants are allotted a country to be represented andso they are required to do research work on the country allotted to them in totality, take on their responsibilities, investigate the international issues, debate upon them, consult with other 'delegates' and attempt to bring forth solutions to the world problems.

The aim of organizing YUN Organs'/committee sessions is to take up an exercise in research, public speaking and teamwork. These are the skills that a professional would need throughout his career and YUN event gives a chance to practice while one is a student. In this process the participants and the executives along with the chief guests and the heads of the YUN event receive awards for their hard work. Moreover Model Youth UN events are diplomatic simulations wherespect for each other and cooperation are the fundamentals of the debate. This setting allows every participant to understand how existing international bodies work under the UN and the contribution they themselves can make to help solve issues and challenges that affect or may affect our planet today.

We would like to extend our invitation to undergraduate students of Law, Political Science, History and Economics from all over India to come and participate in this event that would render them more sensitive to the global problems. Participants have the option of participating either as Delegate or International Press Corps. There is a cap of 150 teams for the event and 15 vacancies for the International Press Corps.

It will provide students and budding professionals with the opportunity to improve their knowledge and awareness regarding most relevant international issues and make them contribute or advance feasible and innovative proposals for action.

The administrative and academic staff with its team is relentlessly working to offer the participants an enriching experience of functioning of UN Organs/Committees.

INVITATION

Detailed information about YUN is available on our website yun.jnujaipur.ac.in for the prospective participants and registrations are open. We look forward to welcome the participants to Jaipur, the Heritage City of India and to the Model Youth United Nationsmeet.

Looking forward to receive your overwhelming response and participation in the eventYUN- Meet 2016 at JNU Jaipur.

With good wishes

MODEL YOUTH UNITED NATIONS MEET

YUN is an educational cum role modelling simulation of United Nations functioning that aims to educate students on practical grounds about the current events, topics of international importance and the United Nations agenda. The participants act as the Delegates of different countries participating in a session of a UN organ/committee, such as United Nations Security Council or Human Rights Council. In YUN participants are allotted a country to be represented and required to do research work on the country allotted to them in totality, take on their responsibilities, investigate the international issues, debate upon them, consult with other 'delegates' and attempt to bring forth solutions to the world problems. In this process the participants and the executives along with the chief guests and the heads of the YUN event receive awards for their hard work.

In the present event of YUN, the session of UN General Assembly, UN Security Council and UN Human Rights Council are decided to be convened. Agenda concerned to these bodies are enumerated under the head "Agenda" of the brochure.

Invitees to this event are undergraduate students of Law, Political Science, History and Economics from all over India and expected to participate and deliberate on sensitive global issues requiring cerebral exercise.

The First Edition of Model Youth United Nations will have certain principles by which the democracy should be reflected in its true sense. They will adhere to the fair and free manner of reflecting the real meaning of democracy:

1. By providing the chance to speak about a topic freely: for and against it,
2. By providing agenda selection as per the need of time,
3. By not interrupting anyone while speaking and letting them express their opinion freely without any coercion.
4. By letting the executive to be good listeners and interrupt only when needed or required to make agendas to go up like and for attendance as well as summarizing the session wise or the complete manner,
5. By letting the majority be made to give chance to minorities to express their opinion in totality with any injustice.
